CLASH IN TOWN COUNCIL; REGULAR MEETING PREVENTED.

President George Porter Blamed by Other Members for Failure to Transact Important Business Last Night.

D. F. GIRARD'S HOT STATEMENT

Answered by President Porter While Rev. J. J. Huston Says He Doesn't Know Why He Was Called from McKeesport and Then Disappointed. Looks Like War.

There was no meeting of Town Council last evening owing to the absence of a quorum. President George Porter and Councilman Clair Stillwagon, William McCormick and John Dean were the absentees. Those who were present expressed much dissatisfaction that no meeting was held. Rev. J. J. Huston left an important meeting of the Presbytery at McKeesport in order to be present. Frank Friel, member from the Second Ward, appeared very angry, especially at President Porter.

"We Councilmen are not the cat's paws of the President," he said, "and he had better find that out."

Councilman D. F. Girard was also angry over the matter. Councilman Girard makes the following statement: "President Porter has deserted the members of Town Council he organized with. That is the reason he was not present last evening. He was ashamed to attend the meeting. Yesterday afternoon he knew Rev. J. J. Huston would be present for the meeting. Borough Solicitor W. H. Brown called him from his office by telephone and asked if there would be a meeting. I was present. Mr. Porter said he was not sure a certain member of Council would be present. Mr. Brown said: 'If you mean Rev. Huston, I can assure you he will be on hand.'"

"Every member of Council was in town last evening in time for the meeting. When I asked Mr. Porter this morning why he did not have a meeting last evening his reply was: 'Because I didn't want to. You prevented a meeting for me once or twice and I have the same privilege.' President Porter almost begged to have the Presidency of Council given him when we organized Council last March. He was for him. I am sorry. Other members of Council there were not very enthusiastic in Mr. Porter's support. They were correct in their estimation. President Porter has been narrow and prejudicial in his government of the Councilman body. He is on one side of a question one minute and on the other the next. He has made a fool out of the present organization of Council in the eyes of the Connellville public. President Porter has deserted the people of this borough who voted for a change of control in borough affairs last February. He has, slipped to the minority."

When asked why he did not attend the meeting, President Porter made the following statement:

"I wasn't present at the meeting last night because I didn't feel like coming. I understand Mr. Girard is making a big kick on this account. As I told Mr. Girard this morning, I returned a compliment to him that he has played on me several times. If you remember, a meeting was to be held on May 21st, show night. I objected, but Girard insisted on it. When that night came, Mr. Girard refused to participate in it. There will be a special meeting held the latter part of this week. I wasn't sure that Rev. Huston would be in town. He said he might not get back from McKeesport in time. I called him up several times but could not find out that he had returned. I went home at 8 o'clock and didn't come down town again."

"I am not satisfied with the way things are running in Connellville. Two members, Messrs. Friel and Girard, are trying to run the whole thing. We have tried to come to an agreement with them to get something accomplished, but they block everything. They refuse to support a good many creditable measures, but insist that everything shall go through."

J. J. Huston made this statement to a Courier reporter: "I was disappointed in the Council not holding a meeting last night. I attended the meeting of our Presbytery in McKeesport yesterday and got excited from the evening session to be present at the Council meeting. It was the time to pay the monthly salaries and regular expense of the past month. We had over $2,000 in the treasury, and the police, firemen, street sweepers, etc., should have been paid. I know of no reason why the meeting was held and the regular routine business transacted."

"There is no reason why the eight Councilmen should not meet and transact the business of the borough in a manner that will be to the best interests of the taxpayers."

MINISTERS ORDAINED.

New Blood Being Installed in the United Presbyterian Church. New blood is being installed in the Westmoreland Presbytery of the United Presbyterian church. Monday night Rev. J. C. McCartney, a graduate of the Allegheny Theological Seminary, was ordained at Jeannette. Tuesday evening at the Atlantic Avenue church, McKeesport, Rev. Smith of Cincinnati was ordained. Another minister will be ordained this week.

SKIPPED BOND.

W. M. Burkett Has Disappeared and Will Not Testify in Cloth Stealing Case.

W. M. Burkett, a Baltimore & Ohio flagman arrested here some weeks ago for participating in the robbery of a valuable bolt of cloth from Train 97 at New Castle, has jumped his bail. Captain Charles Horn of the B. & O. and Special Officer J. H. Deem of the Pennsylvania will appear before the Lawrence county Grand Jury at New Castle today and testify against Conductor C. F. Bridges and brakeman Alfred West, who are also charged with the crime. It was expected that Burkett would turn State's evidence against the other two.

MORE EARTHQUAKES.

Washington and San Francisco Record Occurrence of One. A distinct earthquake of relatively small intensity was recorded last night by the seismograph at the Weather Bureau, beginning at 10:25 o'clock and lasting one hour. The vibrations were the greatest from east to west. The conclusion is based upon records that the disturbance was not more than 3,000 miles distant.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 5.—[Special.]—An earthquake shock lasting about 10 seconds was felt here at 10:27 o'clock this morning. Oscillations were from north to south. No damage has been reported.

FOUND GUILTY.

Charles Menzemer Convicted on Eight Separate Counts. The United States District Court today opened the sealed verdict of the jury in the case of Charles Menzemer, former assistant teller of the Enterprise bank. The jury found him guilty on eight indictments.

Crocker Wins the Day.

LONDON, June 5.—[Special.]—The Epsom derby, blue ribbon event of the British turf, was won today by Orby Richard Crocker's entry.

Noon Weather Bulletin.

Fair and cooler tonight and fair Thursday is the forecast of the noon weather bulletin.

CONTRACTS LET.

Business Booming With Coke Companies in Which Local Capital Is Deeply Interested.

The Northern-Connellsville Coke Company on Tuesday fired up 17 ovens at their Marshall works near the Westmoreland County home and within the week will also fire up the remaining 23 ovens. Wido H. Eckard of Uniontown is President of this company. C. W. Campbell, secretary, and James W. Buttermore, treasurer. The Dunlap-Connellsville Coke Company has let the contract for sinking a shaft to Foster G. Watson of Brownsville. The shaft will be 100 feet deep and contract price $130 a foot for both air and main shafts, complete. The shaft is to be completed within 90 days. The ovens will cost between $50,000 and $60,000.

The Aubrey Laundry Company will erect a large frame sawmill and five double houses, at an approximate cost of $7,500. This work will be pushed forward to completion. The works are situated at Shipson's station, on the Connellsville Central railroad.

George W. Campbell, J. W. Buttermore and other local capitalists are interested in this company.

ELKS ELECT OFFICIALS.

Will Try to Punish Improper Wearers of the Emblem. HARRISBURG, June 5.—The Pennsylvania Association of Lodges of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks yesterday elected these officers: President, J. D. Jones, Scranton; First Vice President, W. N. Latham, Pittsburgh; Second Vice President, M. J. Lendelmeier, Williamsport; Third Vice President, Frank Stohle, Altoona; Secretary, W. W. Magridge, Harrisburg; Treasurer, George J. E. Pakenstein, McKeesport; Trustee, W. H. Hackenberg, Milton. The Association resolved to take steps to punish persons not members of the order who wear the emblem.

NEW SCHEDULE

Being Arranged on the West Penn for Shorter Time Between Connellsville and Greensburg.

Transportation officials of the West Penn Railways are hard at work perfecting a new schedule which is to go into effect within the next few weeks. As soon as summer cars are placed regularly in service this schedule will be made effective. The principal change will be in the time between here and Greensburg. Another effort will be made to cut down the running time from an hour and forty-five minutes to an hour and a half. The new route to the Star of the West is about three miles longer than the one by way of Hunker. To accomplish this will require some fast running. It may be necessary to slash off a few minutes between here and Scottsdale, and this, it is believed, can be accomplished and still have cars leave here on the same time as now. Better time can be made with summer cars, as passengers are loaded and unloaded in much less time than with the box cars. This, together with the stretch of track for fast time between Mt. Pleasant and Greensburg, makes it possible to run the trip in 15 minutes less than at present.

A FIERCE RAIN STORM

Swept Over Fayette County Last Evening Doing Much Damage.

A BIG LAUNDRY COLLAPSES.

At Uniontown and Two Persons Have Narrow Escape from Death—The Damage in Connellsville and Vicinity Was Not Serious.

The fiercest storm of the year passed over Fayette county last evening. It rained in torrents, throughout the county and there were blinding flashes of lightning accompanied by thunder peals sharp as the report of artillery.

The storm did considerable damage in town. It was one of the worst of its kind that has visited this section for many months. Sharp bolts of lightning and loud crashes of thunder continued for about an hour during the evening. The fire alarm system was put out of commission for several hours. All the fuses on the board were burned out by the lightning and a wire on Arch street was knocked down. City Electrician A. J. Buttermore was out the better part of the night getting things in shape again. The system is now in good working order.

Dozens of persons were drenched by the downpour of rain which fell in torrents at 8 o'clock. This rain was accompanied by a black wind making umbrellas of little value. Limbs of trees were blown down and the streets littered with debris. This morning a hard rain fell for a few minutes, while it drizzled off and on most of the day.

The Fayette Laundry Company at Uniontown was damaged to the extent of $500 and two persons had narrow escapes from death. The damage to the plant was confined entirely to the front of the building and the valuable machinery was not harmed. There were only two persons in the building at the time of the accident. Alex Mead, the manager, was in the rear part of the building and Miss Beattie Rowland, the bookkeeper, was in the office. Miss Rowland had just left her desk and was about 15 feet away when the roof caved in; within two minutes it was impossible to find the location of the desk and chair on account of the large amount of debris that covered them. For a while quite an excitement prevailed as it was reported that two persons had been killed. Miss Rowland and Mr. Mead escaped without injury. The accident will not interfere with the work of the laundry. The front was boarded up and everything was in shape at the regular hour this morning.

BASEBALL TEAM IS TAKEN OVER.

Franchise Held by W. S. Malarkey Bought by Local Men.

GOOD BACKING FOR THE NINE.

Salaries Will Be Paid This Afternoon and the Club Put on a Sound Financial Basis—All of the Boys Must Play Ball.

The Connellsville Baseball Association was formally organized in the Marlotta Hotel this morning and the best financial success of the team is assured. The team and franchise has been taken over by representative business men, who will not let the proposition drop. The interest of Manager W. S. Malarkey, who held the franchise in the West Penn League, has been purchased outright, although Malarkey will remain as manager of the team. At the organization meeting this morning the following officers were elected:

President, Thomas W. Hunter; Secretary, William E. Rice; Treasurer, W. D. McGinnis, Board of Managers, Andrew Haas, Robert Norris, W. G. Marquis, William McCormick, H. M. Keppel, Martin May and M. J. Roland.

This afternoon the players will be paid in full to date. They are back a month's salary. After this has been cleared up the Association will go ahead and run things in a way to insure the team's success. There will be no more trouble about meeting the pay roll. Satisfactory arrangements have been made for the ball park here and terms were arrived at this morning. All passes that have been issued will be called in. It is the intention to cut down the number of "dead heads" for this course is absolutely necessary. Every one is working in harmony for the success of the team in Connellsville, the sound financial backing of which is now assured. One thing the members of the team must do. They must play ball all the time. They are assured of their money now just as regularly as pay day comes around, and it is up to them to produce the goods. Connellsville wants a winner and will support one; it will not support half-hearted efforts or continued inferior playing, neither will the new owners.

BLAME STATE.

Editor W. M. Lickins Says the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania Murdered Chief Guess.

UNIONTOWN, June 5.—In what he terms a "minority report," this morning Editor W. M. Lickins of the People's Tribune indicts the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for the murder of Chief of Police Thomas L. Guess of Belle Vernon. In part, Mr. Lickins says: "Guess was killed by Cate, who was on watch in connection with a 'perpetual spree.' Cate was known in Belle Vernon as a good citizen when sober, and it was not believed that he had any special grudge against his victim. When the State establishes the saloon, in the face of the Supreme Court's declaration that the liquor traffic is profitable of 55 per cent. of crime committed within its jurisdiction, it becomes responsible for the crimes created as a result of drunkenness. The saloon is created to enable the State to gain a revenue. It permits men to become drunk and with a certain part of her citizens take the proposition up, get drunk and murder people. The State is to blame. Therefore, the indictment should be, 'That Chief of Police Thomas L. Guess came to his death at the hands of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, through the immediate agency of William L. Cate.'"

Attorney D. C. Wood of Brannville, Tenn., has arrived in Uniontown and will assist in the defense of Cate.

DENIES THE MOTION.

No Substitution of Plaintiffs in Fight for Mrs. Eddy's Property. CONCORD, N. H., June 5.—[Special.]—Judge Chamberlain today denied the motion of the three trustees recently appointed to take charge of Mrs. Eddy's property for leave to be substituted as plaintiffs in place of "next friends," who began a litigation to secure an accounting of Mrs. Eddy's property.

Thieves at Uniontown. The homes of Clyde G. Brebin on Fayette street and Thomas McGinnis of Connellsville street, both of Uniontown, were entered by thieves Monday night. They were scared away before they got much.

GRAND JURY RETURNS.

First Batch Contains True Bill Against Adam Smitley for Murder. True bills have been returned as follows: Adam Smitley, murder; Morris Kirementz, assault and battery; Roy Crohnec, malicious mischief; John Krohnec, breaking and entering with intent to commit a felony; Frank Deal, breaking and entering; Edward Howard, William Myers, Thomas Malone and Frank Marks, larceny and receiving stolen goods; Charles Bodon and Steve Seltens, conspiracy; Ronen Marjona, furnishing liquor to persons of known intemperate habits; Ignored Ernest Buttermore and Ralph H. Leighty, assault and battery with intent to rob, robbery; Paul Blackintz, malicious mischief.

THREE KILLED

As Result of the Explosion of a Car of Dynamite in an Illinois Town.

Publishers Press Telegram. ROCKFORD, Ill., June 5.—Three men have died and a number are in the hospital with injuries that will likely prove fatal as the result of the explosion of a car load of dynamite Tuesday night.

Fire started in some of the oil cans previous to the explosion and consumed 16 cars of merchandise. The explosion caused great damage in Rockford and vicinity.

IMPROVE HOME.

Elka Will Have a Larger Dining Room and Kitchen. Work was commenced this morning on the renovation of the handsome Elka home on East Main street, which will be completed within a few weeks. The dining room and the kitchen of the home are to be made much larger. At present the quarters are cramped.

CONCEALED WEAPONS.

Summit Mines Agitated Over Legal Decision of a Squire.

SURETY OF THE PEACE ALSO

The Gun Was in View and Harry Robbins Was Keeping Revolvers Out of His Place, But Squire Held Him for Court.

SUMMIT MINES, June 5.—When a man comes out of his house and you see that he has a revolver in his hand he may be prosecuted for carrying concealed weapons. For Squire Schemm has decided that a weapon does not have to be concealed to sustain a charge of carrying concealed weapons. Likewise a man on his own premises may not keep a gun or other weapons without being liable to the penalty of surety of the peace. These apparently peculiar legal decisions have been the food for some heated argument about here, and a great many people who stumpy throw up their hands and confess that they don't know what it means and wonder if the Justice is certain where he stands.

It all started from the case of Harry Robbins, a well known young man, it is told by the neighbors that John Rybel was having a party recently, and among his guests was John Rybel. Beer was a conspicuous feature of the function. Much of it is alleged to have been consumed. Rybel took part in a dispute about some children and finally he and Rybel chased them over to Robbins, who is a neighbor. Both men, it is alleged, were very drunk and insisted upon going into the house, so that Robbins was compelled to get a revolver, that was lying on the mantel. He carried the weapon in full view of everyone as all testified at the hearing, and ordered the men to leave his premises, saying that he would defend his home.

Rybel and Rybel became very aggressive, it seems, and were bound to enter the house, but finally they were persuaded by some of their women to leave the place. Robbins, still holding the threatening gun, returned the revolver to its place on the mantel. The men brought suit, charging carrying concealed weapons and surety of the peace. Although Robbins all the time had the revolver in full sight and did not leave his own premises, the Justice held the young man for court on the two charges. If the Grand Jury hears his case it was held at the Squire's, another case will be puzzled over the question.

"How could one know a man carried a concealed weapon if he did not see it?" the Judge is said to have gravely announced when objections were filed to his holding the young man for court.

JUDGE JAMES CLARK WORK RECEIVED COMMISSION TODAY.

Governor Edwin S. Stuart Sends Highly Complimentary Letter Concerning Appointee With the Document.

ITALIANS DISCHARGED.

No Witnesses Against Those Charged With Keeping Disorderly House. The four Italians arrested Monday evening charged with keeping a disorderly house were discharged after a hearing before Burgess Sessor Thursday evening. No witnesses appeared against them.

The parties interested have been legally married and there was no evidence to show that they had maintained a disorderly establishment.

KNOX'S BOOM.

It is on at Harrisburg in Full Bloom and is Spreading in Other States.

HARRISBURG, June 5.—With a grand hurrah the Knox Presidential boom was unrolled here last night by Congressman James Francis Burke, who, accompanied by Pittsburg friends of the Junior Senator, opened headquarters at the Lochiel Hotel. Mr. Burke had engaged the historic quarters of the late M. S. Quay, rooms in which the political history of the Commonwealth has been made for a generation.

Former City Chairman Max J. Leake and Collector of Internal Revenue D. H. Heiter accompanied Mr. Burke, with representatives of the press, witnessed the formal unveiling of the Knox boom, but a moment later the crowd surged up the stairway and Pennsylvania's fight for national recognition was on. It will not close until the National Republican Convention has registered its choice for a successor to President Roosevelt.

The Knox boom is spreading in many States.

Unless all signs fall there will be several candidates for the nomination for State Treasurer placed before the Republican State Convention tomorrow. Former Senator Cummings of Warren county is still supposed to be the slated candidate.

The Lady Maccabees.

The regular meeting of the Ladies of the Maccabees will be held this evening in Rittick's Hall. At the close of the business session a social hour will be held during which time refreshments will be served. A full attendance is desired.

Case Continued.

The case against Ed. Howard and others, implicated in the robbery of a diamond from Jeweler A. B. Krutz, has been continued a week in order that Attorneys Crow & Sholly may have more time to prepare a defense.

Medicos to Meet.

The regular monthly meeting of the Young Medical Social Club will be held Thursday evening at the home of Dr. H. J. Coll on West Apple street.

HENRY P. JONES.

Former Well Known Resident of South Connellsville Died on Tuesday at Morgantown.

Henry P. Jones, aged 63 years, a former well known resident of South Connellsville, died Tuesday morning very suddenly at his late residence at Morgantown, W. Va. The body will arrive Thursday morning on 12 & O. train No. 3 due here at 10:10 o'clock and will be interred in Hill Grove cemetery. Services will be conducted at the cemetery by Rev. W. J. Bassett, pastor of the Evangelical Church of South Connellsville.

Deceased was born in Wales. About 15 years ago he came to this country settling at Homestead, where he resided until about 10 years ago when he removed to South Connellsville with his family. While at South Connellsville he was employed at the plate mill. Last September he moved with his family to Morgantown, W. Va., residing there up until the time of his death. His death was unexpected by the members of his family as he had been in good health up until Monday morning when he was taken suddenly ill. Death was due to hemorrhages of the brain. He was married to Miss Hannah Powell of Wales.

Mr. Jones was a member of the Evangelical church of South Connellsville and has a host of friends who will regret to learn of his sudden death. He is survived by his widow and three children, Emma, Alfred and Albert, residing at home. Two brothers and two sisters residing in Wales, also survive.

CONDUCTOR IS ON TRIAL.

George Markle of the West Penn Alleged to Have Taken $5 Gold Piece Instead of a Quarter—Case Against Burford Quashed—Other News.

UNIONTOWN, June 5.—The commission of James Clark Work as Judge of the newly created Orphans' Court of Fayette County was received at the office of Register and Recorder Logan Rush this morning. Accompanying the commission came a communication from Governor Edwin S. Stuart, who speaks highly of the appointee. He says that it was because Mr. Work is recognized as a man of integrity in whom can be placed especial trust and confidence; whose prudence and ability is well recognized. Mr. Work is now recognized as the President Judge of the Orphans' court and entered upon his duties this morning. He will hear all matters pertaining to this branch of the law in the county.

The bill against Isaac H. Burford of Uniontown, charged with malicious trespass, was quashed on motion of his attorneys, Robinson & McKean, on the grounds that the alleged action was not filed within the required time. Burford is a piddler and sells teas, coffees, etc., around the various coke works. At the Shamrock mines of the Fayette Coke Company, where no trespassers had been posted warning trespassers to remain off his property, Burford entered and was prosecuted, being fined $5 and costs by Squire Jeffries of New Salem.

Conductor George Markle of the West Penn Railroad was placed on trial this morning on a charge of larceny preferred by Miss Annie Roby, daughter of Mine Inspector I. G. Roby. Miss Roby testifies that some time ago she boarded a West Penn street car and, when about Stewart avenue, she handed Markle what she thought to be a quarter. Markle then left her to get the fares of some passengers who were leaving the car. He returned and gave her 20 cents change. When arriving at home, Miss Roby found a $5 gold piece missing and believes she gave it to Markle instead of a quarter. Markle, on the stand, denied that he received a $5 gold piece on the run and said that when he turned his cash in at the office it balanced.

Andrew Levisch is being tried before Judge Reppert this morning for perjury, the charge being preferred by Maria Levisch. It is alleged that some time ago Levisch took out letters of administration in the estate of his brother, John Levisch, who died at Brownsville. Levisch averred that there were but few relatives of the dead man and that his wife lived in the old country. Subsequently Maria Levisch appeared and proved her claim as wife of the dead man. Levisch agreed to sign over his right as administrator and gave to Maria the $200 in cash belonging to the dead man, but he subsequently refused to do this.

Samuel Thomas, an Asryan fruit dealer, was acquitted this morning of receiving stolen goods. It was alleged that Thomas bought chickens from boys who purloined the fowls. He denied this and was found guilty.

Frank Redmond was convicted of assault and battery, the charge having been preferred by Joe Dutcher. Joe says Frank battered up his wife. In the matter of a read in Dunbar township from the residence of William Huey to the Broad Ford bridge, Attorney George D. Howell for the exponents, has petitioned the court that no order for a review be made until the exponents have an opportunity to file objections to the viewers' report.

This morning the following true bills were returned by the Grand Jury: W. H. Morris and L. D. Jones, selling liquor without a license and on Sunday and furnishing liquor to minors; Dennis Korwin, violating mining laws; Andrew Levisch, perjury; Sullivan Salaria, violating mine laws; John W. Stevens, embezzlement as trustee; Charles Boulas, keeping a gambling house and permitting gambling; Samuel Thomas, receiving stolen goods.

Frank Deal and John Koffer, two boys sent up from Connellsville, were acquitted of breaking and entering with intent to commit a felony. The offense occurred at a house owned by Dr. H. P. Atkinson and had been locked by virtue of a landlord's warrant. Deal, who formerly boarded at the house, pleaded ignorance of this matter.

A large number of cases will be disposed of the first week of criminal court.

HAD BATTING STREAK.

Connellsville Boys Easily Defeated the Fairmont Leaders Yesterday.

MR. JACKSON GOT A BUMPING.

Chip Francis and Romeo Parsons Each Punched Out Home Runs While Al of the Boys Took a Crack at the Ball—Gaiser Pitched Nice Game.

Although fielding loosely at times, Connellsville swatted the ball hard enough yesterday afternoon to make up for Monday's defeat and then some. "Buckwheat" Jackson, who lobbed them over for the Uniontown Champs last season, was on the rubber for Fairmont and his assortment of curves and shots was pie for the home team. Of the 18 hits secured from his delivery, seven were for extra bases. The home boys batted the ball like an aggregation of major leaguers. They bunched the spikes to all corners of the lot, mostly just where a Fairmont fielder wanted. For the first time this season the home boys got a home run to their credit. In fact, they got two of them. Francis was the first hero. He belted the ball to middle field in the second with two men on the sacks. The spheroid took a bad bound just as Keller was about to stop its mad career and went flying down towards the deep fence. By the time it was recovered Chip had made the circuit. Romeo Parsons, "the noblest Roman of them all," got his in the sixth, following a triple by Hart, and his swat was cleaner, if anything, than was Chip's. Both were good homers, however.

The Fairmont sluggers were unable to do much with Heine Gaiser's delivery. The German comedian fooled them most of the time and worked nice. He didn't field his position well, however, and made two bad throws to the bases. Neither of these was costly. Danny Hart's work at second was wretched. Of his four chances he fumbled the easiest two. It looked like a lay-down, and in the sixth Danny got an awful culling from Gaiser for his miserable exhibition. Ambsry was back at short and fielded sensationally. He was unlucky in having one misplay, but this didn't count in the scoring.

Connellsville started to swat the ball in the opening inning. Wagner and Hart both drew clear singles and scored on Parsons' sacrifice and a homer by Francis. Two more runs were tallied in the second. Ambsry opened up with a triple and trotted home when Gaiser duplicated the trick. Helpe scored on Hart's single. There was nothing doing in the third but one man trotted home in the fourth. Gaiser singled and came home on Parsons' triple. In the fifth Tiffany hit to Gates, who threw wild, and Tif ended up on third. He scored when Cowap juggled Birmingham's grounder. Connellsville quit scoring in the sixth. Hart's triple and Parsons' homer netted two tallies.

Fairmont scored first in the second. Gates making the circuit when Wagner let his single go through his legs. Two came home in the fifth. Cowap singled, scoring when Danny Hart let Keller's easy grounder get away from him. Keller made his way to third, and then tallied while McFarlan was run down between first and second. Another tally, the last, was made in the seventh. Cowan walked, went to third on Mack's single and then scored when Gaiser threw high to second in an effort to nip the Fairmont manager-captain. Following is the score:

Notes of the Game.
McFarlan of Fairmont is one of the most gentlemanly players on that team. He is also somewhat of a slugger and usually hits the ball when the opposing side doesn't want him to. Wolfe was off a couple of times on balls and strikes for him yesterday.

Wagner let one get through him in middle that looked bad. As a consequence the runner made a circuit of the bases. He let the same thing happen in Monday's game. His catch in the sixth inning, however, was great. The best fielder that ever donned a uniform will make errors in Connellsville's fearful outfield.

Ambsry is showing up in good form. His 10 chances at short were all handled with the exception of one he took them like a veteran. Only one hit was his lot, but it was for three sacks. Of the two, Ambsry shows up better in the field than does Love, while his stickwork is also picking up. Maybe that Scottsdale team isn't coming up. Two games in succession from Greensburg on that team's own grounds is going some. Cumberland is stacking up against hard luck in the Clarksburg series. Yesterday's victory for the Essler crew was due to a last inning rally. Yesterday was the first day that the team has shown its hitting ability. If the batting strunk can be kept up first position will soon be in sight. Such slugging as developed Tuesday will take the heart out of any pitcher. "Buckwheat" Jackson is like Woodruff in one respect. He smiles most when the other fellows are hitting him. A pitcher like that keeps his noodle.

Moran, Tiffany and Wagner were the only players who didn't get into the extra hit column. Each has a single to his credit. Umpire Wolfe was hard on Fairmont on balls and strikes yesterday, but there were senseless kicks by some of the Fairmont players at times. On one occasion Conner kicked on as pretty a third strike as ever came over the plate. Three or four of Wolfe's decisions were off color. Once he called a strike on a very high ball, his reason being that the Fairmont player struck at the ball. It didn't look as though he had. Another decision at first, where attempted interference was given as the reason for calling the player out, was hard on Fairmont. The decision might have been given otherwise and there would have been no protest from Connellsville. The Fairmont players have a bad habit of congregating about the umpire when a decision is question. Let Reddy Mack do the talking and things will break better for the Coulers.

Buck Washer, Ralston and Roeper certainly have put glazer into that Scottsdale team. Elmer Essler is proving what The Courier always maintained, that he is a good ball player and didn't get much of a show from the fans in Connellsville.

Don't blame a player for fooling once in a while on Connellsville's outfield when balls are batted hard there. There is not a worse outfield in the country. No man is sure of a ground ball hit to the local outer garden.

Wagner can hit the ball and that is what Connellsville needs. Parsons when down to weight will prove the best sticker in the West Penn. He is also fast on the bases. With Wheeling in the Central League last year, he was a sensational player the early part of the season.

Chip Francis got a silver bat, a fine pipe, a big hat, a meal ticket, a five dollar hat, a hat and numerous other things for that home run yesterday.

That swiftest sounded good to the ears of the loyal fans. Two or three Fairmont rooters dropped a nice little wad yesterday. So did some of the local sports who are in the habit of betting against the local team.

McFarlan will likely pitch for Fairmont today. The big fellow is a good one, and once before this season let Connellsville down with one hit. Elmer Essler comes tomorrow with his Clarksburg crew.

Romey Parsons turned a neat trick in the fourth, although he got little credit for it. He caught a short fly into his territory. Romey slipped up and all the rooters thought he would get the ball easy. Instead it bit a few feet before him and he caught it on the bounce. The ball was so low that he had to run up on it. The chances are it would have gone past and been good for two or three bases. That left garden is decidedly down hill and to come in on a ball is often dangerous, especially if the ball is hit on a line.

Some fans knock one minute and shout themselves hoarse in praise the next. Remember that ball players are human, and just recollect that the boys on the local team have had more experience playing ball than the fellows up in the grand stand and on the bleachers.

Birmingham was covering some ground yesterday. He got two hard foul flies back of third and whacked a two-bagger out.

Scottsdale handed Big Bill Powell his yesterday. Wagner made a fine catch in right field of a hard line drive that would have started trouble.

Hart was off in his fielding yesterday, something unusual for him. Gaiser also fielded his position poorly.

A straight tip to Umpire Wolfe: Cut out the profanity in front of the grand stand. Wolfe was guilty of profanity before the grand stand yesterday before the game started in talking to a Fairmont rooter.

The Bride of Today The Housewife of Tomorrow

Are you a happy bride today and will you be a housewife tomorrow? June is indeed a happy month. It not only brings forth many happy brides but it begins the building of a happy home. However, happy as you may be today, much depends upon your start out in life whether you will be happy in the future.

Begin right by preparing a home at the start. Buy a whole outfit now and pay for it when you get ready and when you can spare the money not all at once but a little at a time. We don't want to deny you of a happy honeymoon and that's the reason we give you all the time you think necessary to pay for the home outfit. Come here today and select what you want for your home, a little bit or a whole lot. Ask to open an account and then skip away on your honeymoon trip tomorrow. Have a good time while you're away; don't be stingy just because you've bought a whole lot of things—we'll take care of you when you return home—and when you get home we'll have the nest all fixed up for you.

CONFLUENCE.

Interesting Items From Somerset County's Hustling Town.

CONFLUENCE, June 5.—The Borough Council met last evening in the town hall with a full attendance. The sewer question was taken up and discussed. The tapping fee was the principal subject along this line, which was fixed at $25 sometime ago, but some of the citizens objected to this, some who have tapped the sewer refusing to pay. The millage was then taken up and was fixed at five mills borough tax and electric light at three mills. The light tax is one-half a mill lower than last year, which speaks very well of municipal ownership of the light plant. Street Commissioners Young made his report for the past month as did William C. E. Yeagley. The regular monthly bills were read and orders were granted for the same.

The School Board met in the Directors' room of the First National Bank for the purpose of organization. Dr. W. S. Mountain as President and L. S. Lincoln as Secretary were re-elected. D. L. Miller was elected Treasurer to succeed A. N. Tissue. The resignation of Rev. C. L. Morrison was read and accepted. The question of filling the vacancy was brought up and Charles Shaw was elected. The Board then adjourned until an early date, when the tax levy will be taken up.

Miss Mabel Scott, who was visiting relatives in Connelville, returned home last evening.

Misses Maude Colburn and Ida McDonald left for Ligonier, Pa., where they have gone to attend the Epworth League Convention.

W. H. Coughenour is painting his hotel and it is adding much to the appearance of the Riverside.

Charles Brown, who came up from Braddock to spend a few days with relatives, has returned to that place. James Scott was down from Urich today on some business mission.

D. L. Miller and M. B. Mitchell went up to Beachley mines to inspect the work.

Edward Dively came down from Meyersdale today after spending a few days at that place, while recovering from a brief illness.

Squire L. M. Linninger went to Uniontown this evening to attend court, which is in session.

LOOKING AHEAD.

The Wise Man Always Provides for the Future.

What the future may bring is always uncertain. No man can tell what may happen to interfere with his earnings. Fire, failure, sickness, death, any of these causes may result in stopping his income. The safest way is to save while you earn and place your savings in a good, strong bank, the First National of Connelville, for instance, where absolute safety and 4 per cent. compound interest are assured.

DUNBAR.

Events of the Day in the Busy Furnace Town.

DUNBAR, June 5.—The borough School Board held a meeting last night and reorganized. The following officers were elected: Harry Walls, President; C. L. Highberger, Secretary; S. H. Patton, Treasurer. ### THE FABIAN POLICY IN THE FREE BRIDGE FIGHT.

The Youghiogheny Bridge Company is dying hard, and thereby more painfully than it might, could and should. It is all right. Fight for one's rights, real or imaginary; not do reasonable people and too much fault with those who try to drive a good bargain. Most of us do the same thing every day in our mortal lives; but a wise man always knows when to stop haggling, when to close negotiations, when to cease fruitless struggling, when to close out and quit the game.

The Youghiogheny Bridge Company is a creature of the law and amenable to it just as individuals are. In granting this corporation certain rights, the State reserved others to the people. The people are striving to obtain those rights and the bridge company has been active in denying them, chiefly through the law's delays. In this the bridge company has been very successful. They have so disheartened the leaders of the free bridge movement in the past that they have abandoned the effort entirely.

It seems, however, that they have now to deal with a determined champion of the people in the person of the Merchants' Association, an organization strong enough financially and resolute enough individually to carry on the fight to the finish.

The Merchants' Association is free to fight. The determination deepens with the combat. No Fabian policy marks its generalship. It proposes to carry the war into Africa. Not only will the present proceedings be pressed with unremitting energy, but a new and more fearsome line of attack has been planned. It looks as though the Youghiogheny Bridge Company, with its imposing array of legal talent, would soon be called upon to face an attack from the rear only to find itself completely surrounded, and its terms of surrender, contracting in their liberality with the closing in of the lines of investiture.

If the stockholders of the Youghiogheny Bridge Company are wise, they will not permit their interests to be sacrificed to the vend of their legal advisors. The zeal of the lawyer is sometimes, perhaps unconsciously, unhelpful and unwisely stimulated by the prospects of liberal fees accruing therefrom. It is wise to temper it with caution.

A CHALLENGE AS TO CIRCULATION.

"The circulation of this paper is a very sore spot to its editor but not better contemporaries. They seem to think that because they were first in the field of daily journalism in Fayette county the field is theirs by right of discovery. The Uniontown Standard burst forth the other day with this:

Some newspapers are very cheap these days—distributed around town free. A new boy paid to peddle these papers around and gave them away free. Was seen to poke a large wad of them down a sewer. It is a pity of them all right. And they will do about as much good down in the sewer as any place else, and count just much in the "circulation" claim. For those who like to be fooled in that way, that is a good way to be fooled.

We plead guilty of placing a thousand extra copies of The Courier into Uniontown during the past couple of weeks. They are being delivered by the carriers of the Pittsburg papers under contract and are paid for at our regular subscription rates not distributed free, at least not so far as we are concerned. They are not a circulation claim, but a circulation fact, just as substantial and as profitable as any circulation The Standard can boast of. We do not believe that any of them have been thrown away by dishonest carriers, but if they have it is nothing more than may happen to The Standard or any other daily newspaper. The circulation of The Courier has been proven to the satisfaction of its chief advertisers by personal investigation and by that even more satisfactory and gratifying test—business results. The Courier is the only Fayette county newspaper that carefully refrains from fooling its advertisers about circulation. It is the only newspaper that makes affidavit to its daily circulation and invites its inspection and verification.

The Connelleville News claims in partitello and says:

And that method is what makes up a good part of the "circulation" about which some newspaper men so solemnly and so frequently make oath. This comes with ill-grace from The News, which in its recent "contest" printed thousands of copies which went viewless and voiceless to the garbage heap after giving up their voting coupons.

The News now sets up the preposterous and unproven claim to the biggest circulation in Fayette county, because, it says, it received 2,217 new subscribers with its diamonds and watches and Jamestown trips, but how many papers it circulated before it carefully refrains from stating.

We offer again the challenge we have frequently offered before, to submit circulation claims to the investigation of a committee of the Connelleville merchants. We will extend this challenge to any and all of our contemporaries.

The truth courts investigation, docters dodge it. Let us see who the dodgers are.

Golden silence frequently has silvery speech distanced about 10 to 1.

The free bridge fight is certainly getting desperate when the newspapers and the people of Connelleville are charged with intimidating the voters and being in contempt of court because they have dared to express the opinion that the county authorities ought to condemn and take over the Youghiogheny bridge and make it free just as most other Fayette county bridges are. There is no law of law in this county, not even for the sacred person of a Toll Trust.

Even a contented spirit is liable to balk at the murmuring meter.

In the old primary election days a shortage of ballots would have convicted an election board of a tendency for paper dirt.

Some people refuse to see the difference between news and advertising matter.

Judge Reppert sounds the bugle note of Republican duty promptly, loudly and clearly. If the Uniontown Herald is to continue to pass as a Republican newspaper, even of the independent persuasion, it should practice that note diligently until it has it perfectly. The notes of discord should be dropped.

"Justice travels with a lightning heel and strikes with an iron hand, except when her foot slips."

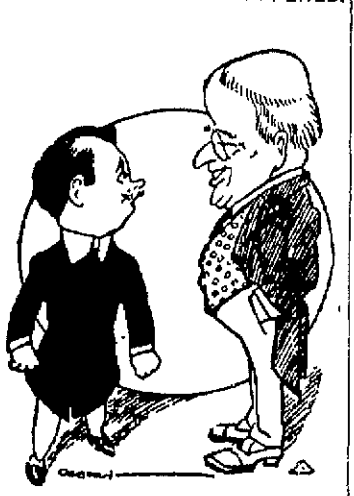

The Knox boom is no longer newspaper speculation. It has assumed definite and determined proportions.

The man who kicks on the weather is hard to please, just now we have all seasons for our own.

The frantic efforts of some of the Pooh-poohers and the Tush-Tushers to climb onto the Knox band wagon is amusing.

A well written advertisement in a widely circulated newspaper is the best and the cheapest publicity.

DUNN'S CASH STORES.

129, 131, 133 N. Pittsburg St., Connelleville, Pa.

THE WEATHER.

Western Pennsylvania—Fair and cooler Wednesday, Thursday fair, fresh west winds.

June Business.

Never mind the weather. No matter what it may be like. To prove to you that the weather does not interfere so much with business, we want to tell you that last month we sold more goods than during any other month of May in this store's history. Tell you this also because we believe you are interested in this store and there are no more secrets that we want to keep from you. We mention below some of the goods that mean an increased business for this store during this month of June.

Ladies' Suits at $15.

About a dozen of these left for this week's selling. Suits that sold for $25.00 and $25.00. Plain colors and fancy mixtures. Every suit new this spring. If you have a suit want you owe it to your pocketbook to see these.

White Waists.

Starting at $1.25 and from that on up to $5.00 and $10.00. We have a collection of pretty waists here that we want you to see. Exclusive patterns that are moderately priced. More of best material and made right as you would have them made for yourself.

Children's Colored Dresses

Size one to six years. We have a full lot of these in the cloak room that we want you to see. Priced from 50 cents up to $1.00. The prices will prove to you that it is hardly worth while to buy the material and have them made or even make them yourself.

Embroideries.

Have you seen that table of embroideries and insertions that we have been showing at 10 cents the yard? Not a yard in the lot that is not worth more than this price. A good bit of it worth double the price.

Shirt Waist Suits.

Prices on these start from $4.00 and from that on up to $25.00 and $30.00. Biggest showing of come from $10.00 to $15.00. You'd pay almost this much to have a suit like these made and these are made right. The kind of suits you want.

On Tuesday morning we will place on sale six patterns of lace curtains that should have been here to show you months ago. Prices on these run from $2.00 to $5.00 the pair and at these prices they represent the biggest lace curtain values that we have had to show you for some time.

The Carpet You Want.

Before you buy you owe it to your pocketbook to come and see these we have here, to examine the qualities of the carpets and learn the prices. $1.00 to $10.00 saved on a room ought to mean something to you and if you will consider quality we believe we can save you this much on each room you carpet. But saving this much would mean nothing, if the carpet does not give you satisfaction and if you do not know from your own experience, nay your neighbor about the carpets we have here.

MILLER IS RELEASED.

Sensational Murder Trial in Somerset Comes to Sud-den End.

PROSECUTION HAD NO CASE.

When Will Was Thrown Out They Admitted Their Line of Action Had Fallen Flat—Some Testimony Offered Yesterday.

Special to The Courier.
SOMERSET, June 5.—An abrupt termination of the trial of John H. Miller for the murder of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Katherine Stauffer, occurred this afternoon when court opened. Attorney Percy Allen Rose of Johnstown arose and stated to the court and jury that under the evidence the Commonwealth could not ask for a conviction of murder. Judge Kooser had ruled out the introduction of the will of William M. Stauffer immediately before this and this will was the main piece of evidence upon which the Commonwealth based their case, it being impossible to establish a motive for the crime if this will was excluded. Attorney Rose stated that he was employed as private counsel for the children of the murdered woman, and Stauffer and Sheridan Pickens, and that the reason for the association of Guyden W. Walker with the case was that he had been seen in the vicinity of the crime about the time of the homicide. The Stauffer children did not wish to lose any chance of bringing their aged mother's slayer to justice and for that reason an information against Walker was made by Sheridan Pickens before Justice of the Peace W. W. Knable here. Walker, who is employed in the engineering department of the Diamond Match Company at Chico, Cal., was cleared from all suspicion of the crime by an investigation conducted by Richard White, an attorney at Chico and by letters from his employers establishing an alibi by stating the dates from which his connection with their company opened and closed, and the time when he was working for this concern embraced the time when the crime was perpetrated.

Attorney Rose concluded his address by requesting the court to order a verdict of "not guilty," which was done and the verdict taken. The court then stated that Miller was a free man and a general handshaking between his counsel, the members of his family and relatives ensued. It is stated that the counsel for the defense had prepared a line of evidence which would have satisfactorily proven alibi for Miller had the Commonwealth not thus abruptly terminated the case. Tomorrow the work of concluding this term of criminal court will be taken up and sentence will be pronounced on a number of persons convicted of various offenses during this term.

Grace Auman, the 15 year old granddaughter of Mrs. Stauffer, on the witness stand for the prosecution stated that on the morning after the commission of the homicide the ashes and residue of burnt paper was found outside a window on the first floor of the house, seeming to indicate that an attempt was made to set fire to the house prior to the murder. Miss Auman also testified that tracks of a man were seen outside the house on the following morning, but that John H. Miller immediately secured a rake and obliterated these tracks. Other tracks were found at different times around the house and under the porches and on several occasions the large yellow watchdog was heard to bark and make a disturbance. On one occasion a window was found broken. Miss Auman also stated that this window appeared to have been broken from the inside of the house, there being no tracks on the soft ground outside and no one heard the noise of the breaking glass. John Miller was on guard when this window was broken.

Dr. C. L. Friedline testified that he lives in Stogestown and that he had been summoned on the morning of the commission of the crime to make an examination of the body of the murdered woman. He gave the dimensions of the wound as two inches long, an inch wide and half an inch deep. He testified that the contents of the bottle which has been offered in evidence by the Commonwealth as having been found outside the house on the morning after the murder were turpentine and chloroform. A number of other witnesses were called to identify the hammer, the handkerchief, which was found in the bed of Grace Auman on the morning after the murder, the criminal having used it in an effort to render her unconscious, and the bottle and its contents, all of which were identified by each witness.

John Auman, the 14 year old grandson of Mrs. Stauffer, then came upon the stand and corroborated his sister's testimony as to the awakening from their sleep by the murderer, the finding of their grandmother in an unconscious condition and the subsequent entry of the murderer into their grandmother's room. He stated positively that the hammer, which was used in the commission of the murder, was in the small shop on the farm, he having used it on the evening before the crime was committed.

George A. Bauman, a photographer of Johnstown, testified that he had taken several photographs of the Stauffer home. These were identified by him and offered in evidence by the Commonwealth.

Dr. H. I. Marsden, a local medical practitioner and druggist, identified the contents of the bottle as a mixture of chloroform and turpentine.

Dr. J. M. Louthier, a local physician and proprietor of a pharmacy here, testified that he had sold John H. Miller, the defendant, three ounces of chloroform on the fifth of last November. Miller alleging that he wanted the anesthetic for a sick horse. Dr. Louthier stated that Miller presented a bottle and that he filled it with the liquid. He identified the bottle found morning after the murder as the bottle presented at his establishment by Miller and filled with chloroform by him. He also identified Miller as the man who presented the bottle.

William H. Stauffer's will, by which instrument he bequeathed all his estate to his wife, the murdered woman, for five years, after which time it was to be sold and divided into six equal shares, one to each of his five children and one to his widow. At Mrs. Stauffer's death this share was to be divided equally between his two grandchildren, Grace and John Auman. In an ensuing argument Attorney Rose stated that Miller probably wished to have the property divided at an earlier date and that he therefore, if guilty of the crime, killed Mrs. Stauffer.

B. &amp; O. WON.

Trimmed the C., M. & C. Company Team at Marietta Park Last Evening.

The B. & O. and C. M. & C. Co. teams met in a hotly contested game last evening at Marietta & Stillwagon Park. It was a pitchers' battle for six innings, but in the seventh, with the score standing 1 to 0 in their favor, the B. & O. boys went after Pryor and with some good solid hitting coupled with a few errors, scored six runs and clinched a victory. They scored four more in the eighth and the C. M. & C. Co. barely escaped a whitewashing by scoring a run in the last inning with two men down.

The feature of the game was the work of both pitchers, Pryor having 13 strikeouts to his credit and Shoats having one less. The score: B. & O. 6, C. M. & C. Co. 1. Batters—B. & O., Shoats and Stillwagon; C. M. & C. Co., Pryor and Clifford.

HARRIMAN MUST ANSWER

Criminal Suit Will Be Instituted for Violation of Sherman Law.

Washington, June 5.—The question as to whether the government will enter criminal prosecution against E. H. Harriman, the railroad magnate, for the violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, was considered at a conference between President Roosevelt and Franklin K. Lane, interstate commerce commissioner, at the White House.

Mr. Lane announced that before July 1 legal proceedings would be instituted to compel Mr. Harriman to answer certain questions propounded to him by members of the commission at the recent hearing in New York when the Alton deal was under investigation. Previous to his conference with the President, Commissioner Lane had conferred with Frank B. Kellogg, special counsel for the government in the Harriman investigation. Mr. Kellogg, it is understood, will have a conference with the President some time this week and will later go to New York to institute suit against Mr. Harriman to compel him to answer the questions regarding the Alton transaction.

SUNDAY SCHOOL DELEGATES MEET.

Nearly 200 Workers Are in Attendance at Uniontown Convention.

IS 11TH SESSION IN FAYETTE

Connellsville is Well Represented. This Afternoon and Evening Sessions Will Be Held and Important Work Transacted.

UNIONTOWN, June 5.—Nearly 200 delegates are in Uniontown to attend the 11th annual convention of the Fayette County Sunday School Association, which opened yesterday morning in the M. E. Church. President B. S. Forsythe of Dawson called the meeting to order and an address of welcome was delivered by Attorney R. E. Hopwood of Uniontown, and a response made by Rev. T. S. Neagle of Fayette City.

The music incident to the convention is being conducted by Joseph K. Brown of Connellsville. The morning session was taken up largely with the addresses of welcome and response. At noon more than 150 delegates had already registered from different parts of the county. The convention got down to real business in the afternoon when addresses of importance were made by Rev. E. D. Bevier of Fayette City, President B. S. Forsythe of Dawson; Rev. J. D. Bryson of Dawson; Rev. Charles F. Irwin of Bolivar; W. C. Lilly of Pittsburgh, and J. A. Eby of Connellsville. At the close of the afternoon session the members of the Fayette county alumni of teachers training held their first annual banquet at the M. P. Church. The affair was a great success and was largely attended.

Last evening addresses were made by Rev. E. D. Bevier of Fayette City, Rev. L. W. Hahner of Norristown, and Rev. David G. Downey of New York. Women representing the different Sunday schools of Uniontown served dinner at noon yesterday to the delegates present. The dinner was served at the First Presbyterian Church. Considerable delay was caused last night on account of the electric lights going out, but the gas jets were at hand lighted and the program carried out. The church was packed for the evening session. The convention will continue today.

Among the Uniontown delegates and ministers who registered yesterday are Dr. J. S. Bromley, Rev. J. Walter Carpenter, Rev. J. S. Leland, D. M. Hertog, R. E. Hopwood, L. G. Chorpennig, Miss Donna Patterson, T. R. Wakefield, Mrs. J. L. Malcolm, O. P. Markie, Mrs. W. S. Trax, Frank Sinder, Mrs. George Hopwood, W. E. Huston, Rev. C. A. McGee, Rev. W. A. Jolly, Miss Kathryn Westenberg and Miss Margaret Murphy.

Session of the convention will be held this afternoon and this evening. Quite a delegation of Connellsville Sunday school workers will be in attendance.

VANDERBILT.

Personal Chat From Fayette County's New Borough.

VANDERBILT, June 5.—Rev. T. P. Kerr, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, was in Uniontown yesterday looking after some matters of a business nature.

Borough Constable Jacob Harshman went to Uniontown Monday, where he made his returns to the court.

The School Board met last Monday evening at the Hotel Vanderbilt. The following Directors were present: Drs. G. B. Roberts and J. H. Hazlett, C. B. Arison, J. B. Henderson, H. D. Shallenberger and Burt Newmyer. After the Board transacted the business which required the attention of the retiring members they organized by electing H. D. Shallenberger President, C. B. Arison Secretary and G. B. Roberts Treasurer. They will meet in the course of a week when they will ballot on a principal.

Town Council met in regular session on last Monday evening with the following Councilmen present: S. E. Porter, J. C. Moore, Sanford McBurney, W. J. Reed, D. R. Kooser and J. W. Gween. Burgess F. P. Newmyer submitted his report for the month of May, showing that $17.50 had been collected in fines and licenses. The report was not accepted owing to the fact that the $10 fine which had been imposed on J. W. Smith and several unknown parties was included in the report. Some time ago Council met in special session and passed a motion to remit the fine. No business of note was transacted and Council adjourned to meet June 17.

George Newmyer & Son, who have been conducting a clothing store at this place for a number of years, have added a line of dry goods to their business.

Prof. W. H. Johns of near Dunbar was calling on friends at this place yesterday.

A grand musical concert will take place in the Presbyterian Church Friday evening of this week. The price of admission will be 15c and 25c. All who can should avail themselves of the opportunity of hearing it.

Sensational Contest Waged Between B. & O. and Union Nine at M. & M. Park Monday Evening.

The crank B. & O. Clerks of the City League and the Union Independents fielded and clouted the ball for six strenuous innings Monday evening and when the smoke therefrom arose and mingled itself with the darkening, gaseous mass emitted from the Davidson ovens and settled down over the park, rendering playing impossible at the end of the sixth, the score stood 10 to 10. Despite the fact that the score soared to double figure proportions, the game was exciting, interesting and well worth witnessing, the fast vanishing light being responsible for the numerous tumbles.

Deft and Hicks both pitched a nice even game and there was plenty of good, fast fielding behind them. Mason's home run and Drobner's two base bank, the latter after two men were down and which started a rally which tied the score, were the features. Gomas' hitting, McHugh's playing in right field and Snyder's impartial umpiring were also headlines on a most pleasing bill of the great national game. The score:

	B. & O.	U. I.
Wilson, 2	1	0
Adams, 2	2	1
Scott, 1	3	0
Deibert, 1	0	2
Gomas, 1	1	0
Munk, 1	1	3
Kessler, 1	1	0
Blaschberg, 1	1	0
Drobner, 1	1	0
Totals	10	10
B. & O.	11	10
Teeters, 3	1	0
Hicks, 1	2	0
King, 1	2	2
Mason, 1	1	0
Moore, 1	0	0
McHugh, 1	0	0

When the back begins to ache; Don't wait until backache becomes chronic; Till serious kidney troubles develop; Till urinary troubles destroy night's rest.

Profit by a Connellsville citizen's experience.

Mrs. Mary Bowers of 237 Tenth St., Connellsville, Pa., says: "We have kept Doan's Kidney Pills in the house ever since the year 1897, when Mr. Bowers first learned the merits of that remedy. At that time he was troubled with his back and kidneys. If he caught cold and worked unusually hard, backache and pains through the loins attacked him. The secretions from the kidneys at such times became very scanty, highly colored and irregular. He felt stiff and sore in the loins and muscles and it was hard for him to work. Doan's Kidney Pills gave him such prompt and complete relief from these complaints that he was pleased to give a testimonial for publication at that time. Though working at the forge and anvil is a constant strain on the back and occasionally it has affected his kidneys and brought on slight attacks of backache, but Doan's Kidney Pills always relieved him before the trouble became in any way serious. Last January he had an attack of lumbago and used Doan's Kidney Pills only a short time before he was as well and free from pain as ever. I have also used this remedy for backache and found relief."

Drawing to a Close.

Harrisburg, June 5.—The capitol investigation commission will hold public hearings during the remainder of the week, beginning at 11 o'clock this morning. The commission will hear only a few more witnesses and will probably complete its inquiry and make its report to Governor Stuart by the middle of July. The report of Charles F. Rich, of New York, the expert who made an examination of the lighting fixtures, will be presented this week. It is said that Rich's discoveries have been more startling than those found by the commission's experts.

"Get up," he said. "You have forgotten something."
Nothing," she answered. "Your marriage has no more to do with it than mine."
"My marriage! With whom, pray?"
"The wife you applied for—at some other place."
She could not help her tone. It struck Tom into telling her the facts and so inadvertently exposing Daintree's chicanery. He instantly defended it as the accepted course.
"But that's not what I meant at all,"
he added hurriedly. "You must have forgotten what I told you the other day in the boat shed!"
"My hero!" she whispered. "You thought it best that I should never know, and so you said you were not an innocent man!"
"No," she said. "You soon saw that for yourself. They may hang me yet!"
"And you wouldn't have me think of you any more," continued Claire, a spasm of pain crossing her face at his words. "But I will—I will! I'll think of you till I die—my own hero!"
He flinched horribly, looking toward the door. She would compromise herself, she would do herself harm. That was still his first thought. She said it, and it floated her to the crest of that emotional wave in whose trough
he trembled.
"I believed you guilty—may God forgive me!" she cried. "But—shall I tell you something?"
"Well?"
"I loved you all the same!"
"I won't believe it," he said, at last.
"I did! I know it now."
"Then forget it!" he cried hoarsely.
"For God's sake, remember nobody but the man you are to marry tomorrow morning. What? Claire?"
He started from her. She had shaken her head. She shook it more passionately for that, but she did not speak. So he began—hardly knowing what he said—but pleading for his best friend—pleading for her honor—pleading for sacred duty as his male eye saw it.
She was going to marry a generous and brave man, to whom he owed, not only his life twice over, but any good that was left in him. Yet neither was the other a faultless man, though so generous and so brave, and his one great anchor to good sense and good living was his love for Claire. Tom spoke plainly, even eloquently, as he went on. He would have gone on longer, but there was no need. Claire sat meekly weeping. He bent over her —his face wrung with anguish now that hers was hidden—and so took her hand in his for the last time.
"God bless you always," he whispered
in a broken voice, "and make you good to him—and make him good to you!"
She clung passionately to his hand.
She held it to her bosom and looked pleasantly up into his face. The tears sparkled in her eyes and on her cheeks.
Her sweet lips quivered. It was more than man could bear. He fell upon his knees, he threw his arms about her,
and for a very little space these two torn hearts beat and sobbed as one.

CHAPTER XXXIII.

THE master was busy at his desk,
but there was no rhyning dictionary at his elbow, and the book of synonyms was suffocating under a pile of papers that were stuffed into a drawer as Tom entered guidily. The clock—an athletic trophy in the form of a kettle drum—was then striking midnight, and Daintree wheeled around in his chair with the eleventh stroke.

"Shut the window," said he. "I have two things to tell you which I don't want the girl to hear. If her windows are open she might."

"Vill, I not! Thank God for the chance!"

"I did. I wroughed her in doing so,
but she had the sense to refuse me,
and I'm not going to wrong her worse
by asking her again."

"That settles it. I've found a captain who's willing to smuggle you over to America for a consideration, all details to be arranged before I leave Sydney tomorrow. Will you go?"

"Vill, I not! Thank God for the chance!"

"Then that settles that for the present. You shall be spirited aboard tomorrow night, and by Monday morning you shall have seen the last of New South Wales forever."

"Peggy crept away from the door.
Her mind was made up."
"The other thing's a trifle," said Daintree. "A pretty place this New South Wales! I go to the bank and cash a check, come in and shove the news into one of those drawers, and a man breaks into the house and all but into my desk while I am sitting in the next room at my dinner! Look at this!" And he pointed out the marks of a Jimmy on the polished mahogany.
The circumstance did not appear to excite him in the least. He smiled loftily on Tom's concern and at once exaggerated an attitude which had been a perfectly genuine before.

"Ah, Thomas," he remarked, "even you don't know your Sydney yet or you would be like me and think nothing of such trifles. I was eating my dinner, as I say, when I heard him at his work. Unfortunately I let him hear me. Still, I closed him out of that and some way down the road and could have caught him if I hadn't preferred to come back and finish my dinner."

"By Jove," exclaimed Tom, "I wonder whether it was the fellow who turned up on the beach almost at the instant we went down!"

"What?" cried Daintree. "Did you see him?"

"Yes, I caught a glimpse of somebody as we heeled over. Depend upon it, that's our man!"

Daintree turned nasty in a moment.
"Why depend upon it?" he snapped.
"Did you see the man's face? Would you know him again? Oh, you will not! Then let me recommend you not to make a fool of yourself, my good friend. Nobody but a fool would connect the two men."

His ill temper was inexplicable, yet to treat an attempt upon his property as a joke and an inoffensive theory of the attempt as something of an insult was but in accord with the capricious character of the man. And, indeed, Tom would have gone to bed like a lamb and thought no more about the matter, but for another caprice detained him. Daintree would not hear of his going. It was their last night together; they must sit up and talk, and he apologized for what he had said.
So they sat up once more, but the conversation languished for the first time on these occasions. Something had unnerved and depressed Tom's master;
he was never himself until the last night of his single life was at an end, and in the first light of dawn a full rigged ship sailed in just as the Rommard had done on the previous Sunday afternoon.

"Letters!" he cried. "Letters for my wedding day! Who knows but what I may get the best of news to crown my joys? What if my wife were never to be Mrs. Daintree at all? Youder ship may dub me baronet. Open a bottle, Thomas, and we will drink to all she brings us!"

Then at last they lay down, but sleep came neither to the happy man nor to his miserable valet, and by 10 o'clock the one was helping the other into his wedding garments. A few minutes before the hour the coach arrived which was to take the bridegroom in state to church. A few minutes after a man was observed rowing in the bay, and Daintree insisted on taking a look at him through his spyglass. Evidently the rower saw him, for he shot out of sight behind a head-land, but not before Daintree had brought his telescope to bear upon the rower, and now the glass fogged between fingers which seemed smitten with the ague.

"That was the man!" whispered Daintree, "and he's after me still. I-I didn't mind last night. I suppose it takes less to turn one queer on one's wedding morning." He was struggling in vain against some growing terror.
"Brandy, man, brandy!" he gasped and subsided in a chair.

Tom rushed downstairs for the decanter and returning, found the terrified man fumbling with his pocket pistol. He tossed off the spirit and handed the pistol to Tom.

"There," said he, "better withdraw and reload to make sure. Stop, give it back!" He snatched the pistol and then drew excitedly through the open window. "That'll show him I'm armed,"
he cried. "Now load up again!"

He seemed beside himself with excitement. Tom went out without a word and on his return handed back the pocket pistol. Daintree cocked it and felt the trigger.

"I've a good mind to fire through the window again," he snarled. "To see if you have loaded it, but I'll trust you, Thomas. You're the one man in this world I do trust. And now put on your hat and come in with me to Sydney."

Tom drew back. "This was not in the programme. On the contrary, he was to stay and mind the house."

"The girl can look after the house.
Your place is at your master's side or else you are the foulest ingrate in New South Wales! But you are. I have always known you were. You have only waited for this hour to turn and read me!"

"You are wrong," said Tom grimly.
"I do not leave your side again." For the man must be mad, and Tom no longer shrank the ceremony, but for one instant had a mad design himself;
the next, his right hand was warmly
bent.

"Thank God!" cried Daintree in a breaking voice. "I knew you didn't mean it. No more did I mean anything I said. Forgive me, Thomas, and don't desert me at the last!"

And Tom's heart sank as it once more softened to the man who was not mad, but only unstrung, and again he languished to eschew the church, but he kept his word, and fortune was set to prove his friend. A mile they had driven when a loud cry broke from Daintree. In his agitation he had forgotten the ring. He burst into tears at the discovery.

"Never mind! Never mind!" cried Tom in his oldest role. "We can turn back. What, isn't there time? No, I know it would never do to keep her waiting. Then look here, I'll run back and gallop in again on your horse.

I'll be there almost as soon as you,
and the ring isn't waited till quite
the end!"

Daintree thanked him through his tears—the first Tom had ever seen in those derv eyes—and he sped back strangely touched, but strangely comforted too. At least he loved her! The man might be egotistical and vain and overbearing, all three to the verge of lunacy, but that he was marrying for sheer love was even more palpable than it had been before. Tears in those eyes! Tears at the thought of losing her for one more day! Then God grant that with Claire at least he might be useful, meek and gentle, though an egotist, a coxcomb and a tyrant to all the world beside!

So praying as he ran, for out of his own debt to Daintree—for the moment self forgetting altogether—Tom was at the bungalow gate in time that would not have shamed the bridegroom in his athletic youth. And in the very gateway he stopped dead. He had caught a glimpse of a man's foot sticking peering through the study window.
A crazy skiff lay hauled up on the strand.

Tom kicked off his shoes. He made no sound on the veranda, but he vanced some seconds, and heard two drawers burst open as he crept nearer and nearer. He was totally unarmcd; his one chance lay in taking the thief by surprise.

The veranda on this side was in deep shadow all the morning. In the cool dark of the study a man had been riding drawer after drawer and tossing the contents right and left. The door was strewn with papers as Tom crept across it and hurried himself upon the thief. They crashed to the ground together. The man's head caught the corner of the bookshelf, and he lay supine, with a mouthful of crumbling teeth grinding horribly below the mask.

His nervous fingers still clutched a packet of bluish letters half torn from their wrapper. Tom took them from him and rose up panting. A moment later they might have heard his shout
at Philip's point.

All but one letter had slipped from his trembling hand. On the back of that letter a few lines had been scrawled with a lead pencil.

It was the receipt.

Pencilled by Daintree on the back of a letter, signed by Tom in his moonlit humdrum fields and taken by the murderer from his victim's person, it knew neither more nor less than the missing document whose production would have acquitted Daintree at the Old Bailey. And now after eighteen months and here on these outlandish shores it had cast up at his very feet.

He held it held his freedom—a his own trembling hands.

The words spun like midges as the paper rustled and shook. He had to set it on the chimney piece to read it through:

Received from J. Montgomery Daintree, late of the "Rom-mard," a certain sum of money, and in consideration of which I undertake to return a packet ticket for return to said J. M. Daintree, at the West End, within three days from this date.
T. ERICHSEN.

April 27, 1887.

He forgot the wedding ring, forgot the wedding. He was a humdrum man. He could prove it now before all the world by this incomparable testimony, this inimitable witness that could not lie. That was Tom's first reflection. His first emotion was a rush of thankfulness, ineffable and unmixed. Curiously succeeded. How came the receipt here? But as he wondered, as his thoughts flew from the broken checks and the beads eyes seemed more prominent by contrast as they glittered upon Tom's visible abhorrence. In an instant, however, the abhorrence changed to recognition, and a great light blinded Tom.

"My God!" he gasped. "The man that did it!"

That our American forests abound in plants which possess the most valuable medicinal virtues is abundantly attested by scores of the most eminent medical writers and teachers. Even the untrained Indian has discovered the usefulness of many native plants before the advent of the white race. This information, imparted freely to the whites, led the latter to continue investigations until to-day we have a rich assortment of most valuable American medicinal roots.

Dr. Pierce believed that our American forests abound in most valuable medicinal roots for the cure of most obstinate and fatal diseases. It was proved by his investigations that the most valuable medicinal roots were to be found in the American forests. He collected these roots and prepared them into a medicinal form. He called this medicine
"Pierce's Kidney and Bladder Medicine."
It is a powerful medicine for the cure of all urinary troubles. It is a powerful medicine for the cure of all urinary troubles.

WOMEN PAY MORE.

Why Insurance Companies Discriminate Against the Gentle Sex.

If one is to believe the medical examiners the reason a woman pays more for the privilege of life insurance is that she is much more complicated a creature of indigestion and trouble, and is more liable to be affected by diseases that spring from these causes.

It is not the acute attacks of the disease that influence the insurance examiners, alone, but the constant feelings of weakness, headache, indigestion and stomach trouble. These things, physicians say, kill more people than many of the serious diseases.

For curative power in all stomach troubles, nothing else is as safe and effective, nothing else can be so thoroughly relied upon to relieve all troubles of indigestion, as Mergal. It is unlike any remedy heretofore known.
It is not a mere digestive tablet, it strengthens and restores to natural action the stomach and bowels and makes a complete cure in even the worst form of stomach troubles.

A Clark sells Mergal in 50-cent boxes under a guarantee to refund the money unless it does all that is claimed for it.

A SURE PREVENTIVE FOR BALDNESS

Is the following Prescription given by a famous Specialist of Scalp Diseases, who says: take of Bay Rum 4 ounces, Common Salt 1 teaspoonful, Castor Oil, 1
teaspoonful, Compound Quinid 1 ounce. Mix these well in a pint flask finally adding enough water to fill the flask. The remedy we are told will remove Dandruff, stop the Hair from falling and if used in time will cure Baldness. All of these ingredients are found at home or can be had from your Family Druggist.

Tom hurried himself upon the thief.

There was a woman, then a movement behind him, and as he wheeled round
the man in the mask sat up.

"That!" said Tom. "No it was you who followed my master from the bank and tried to break into his desk last night! You've succeeded a bit too late.
My master's got his money in his
